

Success at Monash GSB: Orientation 2010

Introducing you to the Graduate School of Business and preparing you for graduate studies at Monash University.

Orientation Program (compulsory)

The GSB Orientation Program is an essential start to your graduate studies at Monash. The program is designed to provide you with an introduction to the University, your Course Director and your fellow students. You will receive a detailed overview of the expectations of postgraduate studies and the services available to help you maximise your GSB experience.

What other new students have said about the GSB Orientation program:

“I don’t feel scared to start on this new journey anymore”
Will, GSB Executive Certificate

“Overall a great experience – a wonderful start”
Nancy, Master of Professional Accounting

“Was really informative and a great preparation for starting back at Uni”
Lee, Master of Diplomacy and Trade

GSB Orientation Workshops (optional)

In addition to the compulsory Orientation Day, the GSB Orientation Workshop series is a great way to kick-start your postgraduate study experience. The comprehensive program of hour-long workshops focuses on:

- Academic skills development – including effective note taking, referencing, developing your own writing style as a graduate and building healthy study habits. Includes an opportunity to participate in a ‘mock lecture’. Invaluable for students who are returning to study after a break or who have not previously studied in a postgraduate environment.
- Professional development workshops – designed to provide an introduction to the personal and professional skills required to be an effective student and employee in today’s dynamic employment environment.
- Australian culture and language – an insightful introduction designed for international students.
